DO-IT-YOURSELF VIDEO PRODUCTION

DESCRIPTION
Are you searching for exciting and new ways to engage your students? Are you looking to produce and share media-rich content, but it is inconvenient to travel to the SPSU camp? If so, then we have resources to assist you.

Do-It-Yourself Video Production is an option for instructors who would like to produce high quality instructional content at home. Instructors can use Camtasia, Echo360 Personal Capture, or the Podcasting Server to produce and upload content.

WHY
High-end audio-visual production facilities such as the Media Recording Booths and the Production Studio are available on campus. Producing content at home may be a more fitting option for various instructors. Many instructors could produce content at their own pace. We have created the “Best Practices for Producing Instructional Videos” to assist you with producing high quality videos at home.

BEST PRACTICES TO CONSIDER
Here are several best practices to consider:
• Consider consulting a digital media specialist
• Determine the content that you would like to produce
• Consider writing your script
